

Victorian Construction Materials Laboratories Association Inc

Individual Membership Information Sheet

Who should become individual members?

All persons involved in construction materials and geotechnical testing in Victoria and Tasmania are encouraged to join the Association (VCMLA)

Individual members will be able to keep in contact with the important changes and be encouraged to attend the regular events.

Corporate organisations will be able to nominate two representatives as individual members.

Individual members have a right to vote at all general and annual general meetings and to become members of the committee.

What do I get for my annual fee?

As part of your individual membership, you will have access to:

- Regular news sheet
- Update to date information on what is happening in our industry
- Support for the development of training courses
- Voting rights in the Association and the right to become a committee member
- Advertisement of your membership of VCMLA
- Regular technical meetings
- Participation in all the Association's activities
- Social events and competitions
